Other conditions/general points to note:

It is advisable to make quarantine and transport arrangements at least 10 working days before the proposed importation date.

- (i) the Veterinary Surgeon in Charge of the Public Quarantine premises, and
- (ii) Kelly Couriers

It is an essential condition of import that the import licence must accompany the animal in transit. Accordingly NO arrangements should be made to send the animal to this country until the import licence has been obtained, as landing without it is not permitted.

The licence must be presented to the appropriate officer of Customs and Excise at Airport of landing.

Animals must be consigned by air as Manifested Freight for entry at one of the designated airports viz: Dublin Airport, Cork Airport, Shannon Airport.

Animals landed at Cork or Shannon Airports must be transhipped by air to Dublin.

On receipt of the licence the owner of the animal should notify Kelly Couriers of the time of arrival of the animal at Dublin Airport, in order to co-ordinate the arrangements for the direct transfer of the animal in a nose- and paw-proof container by Kelly Couriers to Lissenhall.

The owner shall supply the Public Quarantine with an address to which communications about the animal can be directed while it is undergoing detention.

The quarantine and vaccination fees are matters for settlement between the owner of the animal and the veterinary surgeon in charge of Lissenhall, as are all queries with regard to quarantine costs, visits and arrangements.
